

FRENCH POINT ALLIED ADVANCE IN ITALY

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

I guess a good many people believe, down deep, the war will be over within the year. Our victories in the South Pacific, in Italy and the looming invasion of western Europe all point to the end of the war.

However, this is the opinion of one of our fighting men, the nephew of Mrs. Frank Robinson, 112½ East Market Street, Fred W. Blotter, C. M. 1-c. He is stationed in Africa.

"We didn't have any holiday celebration over here. One day is just like the next. I think that a couple more years will finish the war—at least I hope so. A lot of people back there expect an early victory, but they only know what they read in the papers. We have a lot of hard fighting ahead and it will take a long time and cost a lot of lives. After you see the results of war it seems very foolish. Well, we didn't start it, but I know that we will end it."

Later, in his V-mail to his aunt, he added significantly: "I would like to have those strikers over there here for a while—then they would be glad to get back to work at any wages."

Police escort and aid through traffic of funeral processions in this city during the past few years has not only attracted attention of a large number of residents and outsiders, but has been the theme of much favorable commendation on the part of the public generally.

Not only do the police furnish an escort for the procession through the city and to the cemetery, but in most instances where police can be spared, they are stationed at various street intersections along the route to see that the procession is given right-of-way over other traffic.

Personally I have heard many people commend the police and the city administration for the assistance given during funerals and I know that this practice is not carried out in many neighboring cities.

Over in the New England States they give more attention to escorting funerals than they do in this part of the nation. A few years ago while driving through a small New Hampshire village a traffic officer halted my car and about 25 others for 15 minutes while a funeral procession was being formed in front of the village church, although there was ample room for traffic to have passed in safety, and at another point where a funeral procession was entering a cemetery, traffic officers were holding up all traffic until the last car had moved inside the cemetery.

NEW SHIP LAUNCHED FOR CAROLE LOMBARD

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A Liberty vessel will be launched at Los Angeles harbor tomorrow bearing the name of Carole Lombard and dedication to the same cause which the blonde actress was prosecuting to the limit of her ability when her life was smashed out in a Nevada airliner crash almost exactly two years ago.

Miss Lombard was the wife of actor Clark Gable, now an Army Air Forces captain presently in Hollywood editing films of bombing raids over Europe in which he participated. She was killed with 21 others when an airliner crashed into a rugged Nevada peak January 16, 1942, as she was returning here from a nationwide bond selling campaign.

LABOR DRAFT FOR F. D.'S PROFIT, SAYS RAIL PAPER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Labor, the official weekly newspaper of 15 operating, and non-operating railroad brotherhoods, came out today with this eight-column headline: "Now we know 'New Deal' is dead! 'F. D.' asks Congress to conscript workers for private profit."

116,998 GET LUNCHES

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Approximately 116,998 children in Ohio are being served a nutritious noon lunch every school day at 654 urban and rural schools, the Food Distribution Administration reported today.

DECLARING his faith in his wife, Pvt. Harry Hartley, 31, has come to the aid of Mrs. Lillie Hartley, 21, Dayton, O., who is charged with the murder of Corp. Jack Nathanson, 32, of Wright Field, in her apartment the night of December 29. Mrs. Hartley was held in jail without bond. The Hartleys are shown together above.

Ohio Gas Shortage May Be Eased Soon

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The state-wide gas emergency entered its third day today but gas company officials were hopeful folks could draw a tub of hot water by tomorrow, and feel no compunction.

E. M. Tharp, vice president and general manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., in announcing the ban on the free use of gas probably would be lifted tomorrow, warned this was but the first of several

JACK & HEINTZ CO. IS ORDERED TO CUT COSTS $7,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The War Department, invoking the price adjustment law, today directed the Cleveland firm of Jack & Heintz, manufacturer of aircraft parts, to reduce by $7,000,000 the cost of products sold the government during 1942. The government contends this amount represented "excess profits."

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson said "to the extent the $7,000,000 if not recovered by the treasury department through taxes, the renegotiation will be effected through withholding of amounts otherwise due to the corporation. This will result in recovery of approximately $1,750,000 that would not otherwise have been recovered from the company by the government."

UNEMPLOYMENT IN STATE HAS FIRST GAIN IN YEAR

COLUMBUS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Unemployment increased in Ohio during December, the first 1943 month to show a gain in a year which saw unemployment compensation payments dwindle to $1,520,701 as compared with $14,408,108 in 1942.

New claims for benefits filed with the State Bureau of Unemployment compensation jumped to 5,593 in December, an increase of 103 percent over the 2,437 filed in November, Administrator Hugh S. Jenkins reported today.

COAST GUARDMEN FISH MAN'S BODY FROM LAKE

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Coast Guardsmen recovered the body of an unidentified man from Lake Erie today after the 17-year-old wife of a sailor told police today she pushed a male companion off the municipal dock during a scuffle.

Police Lt. Stanley Fubeja said the woman told him a man she knew as John Kormackie, 23, fell off the dock, broke through a one inch coating of ice and failed to come to the surface after she pushed him away from her last night.

BUDGET BATTLE IS SIDETRACKED FOR NEW BILLS

Voting by Armed Forces
And Tax Measure Are Taken Up by Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Congress shook off the shock of President Roosevelt's request for 100-billion dollars today and, with the exception of a few protests over the size of the 1945 budget, turned to more immediate matters of the day.

Chief complaint over the amount of money asked for comes from Rep. Taber (R., N. Y.), ranking minority member of the House Appropriations committee. "The whole thing is padded," says Taber, declaring budget items for establishing administrative departments can be cut by "at least 15 percent."

As similar disapproval came from other Republicans there was evidence a new fight may be launched against federal spending.

One of the more immediate matters facing Congress is the soldier vote which is developing rapidly into a major political issue. In both Senate and House, vote bills are up for committee study. A Senate elections committee has before it a revised version of the Green-Lucas Federal Supervision bill, which the Senate sidetracked last year in favor of a leave-it-to-the-states plan.

ALL PLANS REJECTED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The House elections committee rejected today all proposals for a uniform Federal ballot for men and women in the armed forces and approved, 7 to 5, a modified form of the Senate-approved measure tossing the soldier vote problem over to the states.

The new bill retains a bi-partisan federal ballot commission with functions limited to receiving ballots and reporting them to the states.

It would also eliminate the requirement of registration and poll taxes for members of the armed forces, the Merchant Marine and for personnel of the Red Cross, the Society of Friends and USO organizations serving outside the United States.

DOMESTIC PROBLEMS FIRST, SAYS BRICKER

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The national political campaign of 1944 will be based on domestic issues, not foreign policy, says Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

He said in an interview yesterday the principal issue would be the efforts of the president "to subordinate legislative and other branches of the government to the executive branch."

"The necessity for national service legislation has not been shown," he replied when asked how he felt about President Roosevelt's proposed national service act.

FOOD RULES STAY PUT UNTIL EUROPE HARVESTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Richard V. Gilbert, economic adviser to the Office of Price Administration, says food regulations cannot be lifted until after the first full harvest in Europe following the end of the European phase of the war.

Relaxation of controls over textiles, clothing and consumer durables can be expected shortly after the European war is finished. However, Gilbert told the American Management Association yesterday.

ICKES BREAKS COLLARBONE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes showed up at the Interior Department today with his arm in a sling. His office said he tripped, fell and broke his collar bone at home Wednesday night.

Unknown American Hero Hailed After Daylight Raid on Berlin

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—RAF Mosquitos bombed western Germany last night, the British announced today as American intelligence officers worked to compile a final accounting of Tuesday's epic sky battle over the Reich—a struggle now known to have cost the Nazis 152 fighters and seriously damaged three enemy aircraft factories.

Unknown American Hero
Of the many Americans who play heroic roles in Tuesday's daylight aerial assault on central Germany, one to receive high tribute from bomber crews today was an unknown Mustang pilot who drove alone into a formation of 30 Nazi fighters.

The explanation of his anonymity may lie in the announcement that five American fighters failed to return from the historic battle.

Bomber crews who witnessed his dive, his guns blazing, believe he may have shot down as many as six from the enemy group.

"For sheer determination and guts, it was the greatest exhibition I have ever seen," said

Maj. Allison Brooks, of Pasadena, Calif. "They can't give that boy a big enough reward."

It was the first time the Mosquitos had been out since Monday night, when they bombed Berlin. Specific objectives of last night's raid, from which one plane failed to return, were not immediately disclosed.

The Air Ministry reported RAF Typhoons and fighters had shot down eight enemy planes yesterday in patrols over northern France. One Typhoon was lost.

Strong forces of Allied medium bombers and fighters swept across the Channel toward northern France today, breaking the lull in the daylight aerial offensive which has lasted since Tuesday's great American penetration of central Germany.

The daylight offensive evidently was a continuation of assaults on mystery targets of the Pas de Calais area.

Fresh details meanwhile, continued to

All Not Well for Japs at Home As Allies Keep Grabbing Bases

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

By The Associated Press

The Allies pressed offensives in two sectors of the war in the Pacific and the Tokyo radio carried a hint that all is not well on the home production front.

American planes and P-T boats in the Southwest Pacific blasted small enemy shipping and heaped new destruction on the defense bases for northern New Guinea.

Ground patrols stabbed at Japanese inland positions on the Arave peninsula of New Britain.

In an advance down the western coast of Burma, Allied troops moved to within 51 miles of the Japanese base at Akyab. American fliers made widespread attacks on Nipponese facilities in China.

Indicative of the perceptible Japanese uneasiness, the Tokyo radio quoted Premier Hideki Tojo as declaring a speedy increase in aircraft turnout was vital to meet an "extremely fierce" war situation. He said "the real bottleneck in munitions production is not labor or materials but a lack of fighting spirit."

Japs Take No Chances

The Japanese still showed no disposition to fight it out on the Huon peninsula of New Guinea, and elsewhere in the Southwest Pacific the initiative remained in General MacArthur's hands.

P-T boats destroyed five more barges with which the Japanese hoped to evacuate their trapped troops below the American invasion beachhead at Sidor, New Guinea, while Australians closed in from the south.

North of Sidor, Allied bombers unloaded 104 tons of explosives on the Japanese supply base and troop center at Alexishafen, 12 miles north of Madang.

There was no report on ground fighting at Cape Gloucester, where U. S. Marines have encountered stiff resistance.

South Pacific bombers heaped 38 tons of bombs on Rabaul, on northeast New Britain, and another 36 tons were assigned to Cape St. George, Japanese observation point on the south tip of New Ireland.

American warplanes hit rail and river communications over a large area of Japanese-occupied China Monday, Chungking announced. The following day,

BODY OF BISHOP IS TO LIE IN STATE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—While all Catholic Church bells toll throughout the Columbus diocese, the body of the Most Rev. James Joseph Hartley, bishop of the diocese for 39 years, will be borne from his residence to St. Joseph's Cathedral at 3 P. M. to lie in state until funeral services Tuesday morning.

Bishop Hartley died Wednesday morning of a heart attack. He was 85.

The body, clad in full pontifical robes of violet, symbolic of mourning in the Catholic Church, will be carried to the Cathedral by six Columbus priests with all Catholic churchmen in the city taking part in the procession.

8TH LIQUOR RATION WILL BE SAME AS LAST ONE

COLUMBUS, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Ohio's eighth liquor ration period beginning next Monday will extend through February 29 and the amount of spirits allowed individual purchasers will be the same as during the current six-weeks span ending tomorrow night, Liquor Director Don A. Fisher announced today.

Under that setup ration card holders may buy a fifth, quart or two pints of whisky, gin or other spirits and a "bonus" of rum, imported gin or cordial of the same amount.

Fierce Fighting Rages on Both Sides of Hitler's

By RICHARD McMURRAY

By The Associated Press

The Russians clicked off 11 more miles on the road to Warsaw, fought to the rail centers of Mozyr and Kalinkovichi north of the Pripiet marshes and slugged it out violently today with counter-attacking Germans near Vinitsa about 55 miles short of old Rumania.

Allied planes twice bombed the Rome airfields of Centocelle and Guidonia "with destructive force" while RAF Mosquitos annoyed western Germany. Numerous airfields over Italy were shot up as was Perugia, 90 miles north of Rome. Ten enemy and five Allied planes were destroyed in Italy.

Advance in Italy

French forces pushed through Italy's rugged Apennines for a two-mile gain from the east and Americans advanced slightly from the south yesterday in an encircling assault on the natural and artificial defenses of Cassino, which the Germans call the "Gustav line." Allied headquarters announced today.

American Flying Fortresses, Liberators and medium bombers turned three German airfields near Rome and to the north into flaming ruin with showers of high explosive and fragmentation bombs, including the Guidonia experimental airport where Benito Mussolini's scientists developed a jet propulsion airplane.

The Americans repulsed a heavy German counterattack on Cervaro about midnight Wednesday, then consolidated their gains and threatened Nazi control of the northern slopes of Mt. Trocchio, south of the Rome road and less than three miles from Cassino.

Nazis Put Up Fight

But German resistance was fierce in this final defensive belt around the next Allied objective, and the maze of weapon pits, road blocks, minefields, barbed wire entanglements and trenches augmenting the natural defensive features of a north-south line through the village itself guaranteed a desperate struggle before the point is taken.

High ground around the village, plus the banks of the Rapid River, on which the village is built, had been converted into what German prisoners called the "Gustav line."

Near the Adriatic, New Zealand and British troops improved their positions.

(The German-controlled Vichy radio said "a move on the part of the Eighth Army can shortly be expected on the Adriatic coastal sector since British artillery there has become particularly active.")

French troops in their two-mile advance captured the eastern slopes of Costa San Pietro, a spokesman announced.

Headquarters said since the Allied landings in Italy Allied forces have taken 8,000 prisoners.

Ten enemy aircraft were de-

PHILIPPINES SQUEEZED

BY JAPS WITH NEW TAX

By The Associated Press

A Japanese broadcast said today an income tax measure passed by the puppet Philippine assembly includes a 24-peso tax on "professionals, priests and ministers of the Gospel."

The tax on the clergy, said the broadcast, was urged by its backers to provide them "an opportunity to do their part in supporting the state."

Pre-war value of the peso was about 50 cents.

Court Overrules Defense Motion in Collett Case

FIRST LEGAL SKIRMISH IS WON BY STATE

Special Verdict of 75 May Be Issued Late This Month

Judge H. M. Rankin, in a decision handed down on the motion of James W. Collett's attorneys that Prosecutor John B. Hill be required to furnish defense counsel with a bill of particulars in connection with the first degree murder indictment charging Collett with slaying the Elmer McCoy family, overruled the motion, holding that there is no authority to warrant sustaining the motion.

The decision, covering nearly eight typewritten pages, ends the first legal skirmish in connection with the unusual case, the finding being in favor of the State.

Defense counsel asked for a bill of particulars, "setting forth the facts upon which the offenses attempted to be charged in said indictment are founded, and setting forth the manner in which it is claimed the offenses attempted to be charged were committed."

The counts in the indictment against Collett charge that Collett, on November 24, 1943, "unlawfully, purposely and of deliberate and premeditated malice" killed Elmer McCoy, Forrest McCoy and Mildred McCoy.

In the bill of particulars sought by defense attorneys, they asked that the Prosecutor set forth the time of day, location, instrument used and if a firearm, what kind and caliber. The reasons assigned in the motion are that "said indictment and each count thereof is vague, indefinite, uncertain, insufficient, in general terms and legal conclusions, and in order that this defendant may be fairly informed of what the state claims, and so that this defendant will be protected in his constitutional rights."

Judge Rankin cites various authorities in which the Supreme Court has ruled in cases bearing on similar requests made for bills of particulars.

His decision says in part: "At the time this motion was submitted the court inquired of counsel for defendant whether they had any authorities in support of their request in this particular and they stated that they knew of none directly in point. We have been furnished no cases holding that it is necessary to plead the hour of the day when it is claimed a crime was committed. The only claim made in that regard is that time would be an important factor in case the defendant might want to establish an alibi."

"It is now well settled in this state that the state is not required to prove that the crime alleged in the indictment was committed on the exact date alleged. Proof that it was committed within a reasonable time, either before or after the date alleged is all that is required. In view of this fact it would be quite inconsistent to require the Prosecuting Attorney to state in a bill of particulars that the crime committed was at a certain hour on the date alleged."

"Thus, we see that the legislature, after providing that a bill of particulars may be demanded, expressly provided that the manner in which, or the means by which the death was caused need not be set forth. If we were to sustain branches 'C' and 'D' of the motion we would have to assume the power of nullifying the express provisions of Section 13, supra. To do so would be an invasion of the legislative power."

"We have carefully considered the authorities cited by counsel as well as many others bearing upon the questions involved. We feel that the ones herein discussed are decisive of those questions and that a further discussion of authorities would unduly prolong this opinion."

"For the reasons mentioned the motion will be overruled."

Special Verdict Seen
If a three court judge is not asked for or change of venue made, 15 days before Collett's trial is set for hearing on Feb. 14, Judge H. M. Rankin will probably issue a call for a special venire not to exceed 75 names, from which to obtain a jury to try Collett.

In such cases if the first venire is exhausted without the jury box being filled, additional venires may be drawn until a jury is obtained.

Further defense action in the case is anticipated within the next few days. In all probability a motion will be made to have the Court require Prosecutor Hill to permit defense counsel to see the confession Collett made in Toledo.

James N. Linton, in making the request of the Prosecutor, to

EMPLOYEES CAN SCAN POSTERS

Information as to Their Job Status Available

Fayette County workers can readily determine in the future whether the War Manpower commission regards their jobs as essential by scanning the bulletin boards where they are employed. K. F. Ermlich, WMC area director, announced his office is distributing informational posters to all essential employees asking they be displayed prominently.

Similar posters identifying firms designated as "locally needed" are being forwarded also to all establishments in this category. Ermlich said employees of those firms lacking these posters may assume they are eligible for a WMC certificate of availability to transfer to a job related to the war effort.

MRS. DIANA WILSON DIES THURSDAY

93-year-old Woman Was Ill Two Weeks

Mrs. Diana Wilson, 93, died at her home in Sabina at 5:30 P. M. Thursday. She had been seriously ill for two weeks.

Mrs. Wilson was a member of the Sabina Methodist Church and had lived in and around Sabina all her life. She was the widow of Joseph F. Wilson.

She is survived by one son, Burdette Wilson, at home in Sabina.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 P. M. at the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina with Rev. J. C. Williams, pastor of the Sabina Methodist Church, in charge of the services.

Friends may call at the residence after Saturday noon. Burial will be made in the Sabina cemetery.

Eight new applications for membership were presented during the business session of Madison Grange—Mr. and Mrs. Forest Frye, Roger Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lightle and Miss Virginia Lightle. Nisley introduced Loren Hynes, the new county deputy, to the group. Ice cream, cake and coffee was served to the group by men of Madison Grange.

UNKNOWN YANK HERO HAILED AFTER DAYLIGHT AIR RAID ON BERLIN

trickle in on Tuesday's great American daylight raid.

An official announcement late yesterday increased enemy fighter losses from 100 in a tabulation "not yet complete," crediting bomber gunners with 125 and fighters with 27.

The actual number of enemy fighters that fell before the guns of the 700 American bombers and 500 escorting planes may never be known.

"These figures," the announcement said, "do not include enemy fighters that undoubtedly were shot down by United States bombers which fought to the last in the thickest of battles and of which the total loss now is known to be 60."

This added another to the 59 bombers already listed as missing and officially established total cost of the raids as 60 bombers and five fighters—heaviest loss in any U. S. air operation.

The statement disclosed the American bombed two other objectives: A railway component manufacturing center at Bielefeld, 200 miles west of Berlin, and armament installations at Meppen, 50 miles south of Emden.

Of the enemy warplane factories, that at Oschersleben apparently was given the worst drubbing, but the Junkers plant at Halberstadt and the Messerschmitt-110 production center at Brunswick also were hit hard.

It was disclosed officially American fighters included the new U. S. P-51B Mustang, long-range single-engine fighter plane in the world. The new plane is expected to pace any land invasion of the continent.

ALL NOT WELL FOR JAPS AT HOME AS ALLIES KEEP JABBING SUPPLY LINES

three enemy bombers attempting to attack a forward base of the U. S. 14th Airforce were shot down.

Japs Getting Jittery
A nervous period of watchful waiting by Japan's war lords in the Pacific may be proving too much of a strain on the home front which has need of a victory stimulus at times to whip up plane and ship production.

While the Allies take small, albeit significant, bites in Nipponese island outposts barring the way to Tokyo and Manila, Japan's military leaders have refrained from striking back in strength anywhere. They can ill afford to guess wrong.

But such a policy has given the Japanese homeland little to cheer about. This week Tokyo radio gave its listeners a "victory." It trumpeted the news the Japanese had "recaptured Arawa" on New Britain.

General MacArthur's headquarters immediately responded that the U. S. Sixth Army forces which invaded the sector last December 15 remained on the job.

The fact Japan picked this particular spot for a victory fanfare invites study, particularly because it marks the second time recently the Japanese have elected to make much of a jungle operation listed by the Allies as a diversion.

Allied communiques have been scanty in details concerning American and Japanese positions at Arawe, including whether the village itself ever was in our hands. The main landing occurred at Cape Merkus, east of Arawe. Consequently, the Japanese could have had Arawe all the time or could have "recaptured" it without it being a serious setback.

Arawe is no fortress. It has no good harbor. Its airfield was not even used by the Japanese at the time of the invasion.

On December 26, eleven days after Arawe was invaded, stronger amphibious forces landed at Cape Gloucester, smashed defenses and seized the airdrome. Then headquarters disclosed Arawe was invaded largely to draw Japanese attention from the larger objective.

Before the Cape Gloucester operation, war correspondents noted that seizure of Arawe cut Japanese barge traffic along the southwest coast to and from New Guinea. They noted that Arawe commanded the eastern flank of those narrow waters between New Britain and New Guinea. Cape Gloucester has superseded Arawe in both roles.

Even if all the Arawe sector was abandoned, there would be small cause for rejoicing in Japan so long as those Marines at Cape Gloucester push inland while construction battalions put the two airstrips in working condition.

THREE BADLY HURT IN WRECK NEAR IRONTON

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilt and Son, Marlyn, in Hospital Following Crash

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilt, of near Milledgeville, and their son, Aviation Cadet Marlyn Wilt, stationed in Arcadia, Florida, are in hospitals as result of a serious auto accident near Ironton, Thursday night about 11 P. M., according to word received here by relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilt were accompanying their son part of the way back to camp, after he had spent a short time visiting them, when the accident occurred.

Reports state that Mrs. Wilt was the most seriously injured, and first reports stated that she and her husband were in the Ironton Hospital, with Mrs. Wilt's condition critical.

Wilt also sustained injuries of a serious nature, while Marlyn suffered a fractured arm and other injuries, and was removed to a Veterans' Hospital presumably at Huntington, W. Va., for attention.

How the accident happened was not learned, or the exact nature of the injuries of the three people.

LEIS TO ASSIST PROSECUTOR IN COLLETT CASE

Noted Criminal Lawyer in Cincinnati Retained for Trial Here

Friday afternoon Simon L. Leis, noted criminal attorney of Cincinnati who has assisted in 35 first degree murder cases, was retained as assistant prosecutor to aid Prosecutor John B. Hill and Charles S. Hire in the James W. Collett murder cases.

For many months Attorney Leis has been stationed in Youngstown under direction of Attorney General Herbert, helping clear up the graft, gambling and corruption in that city.

For the past 12 or 14 years he has been assistant in the Prosecutor's office at Cincinnati and has taken part in many of the leading murder cases in that city and at other points.

After a few days work in Youngstown, Leis will come here and take up his work on the Collett case.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

It begins to look as though the Russo-Polish territorial dispute, inflammable as it is, may in the long run help the Allies to a solution of one of their most difficult problems—that of wiping out the arrogant, swaggering, bullying Prussian militarism which for generations has been the curse of Europe and has helped two world wars within our time.

Much depends on whether the Poles and Moscow are able to get together for negotiations over the new Soviet proposal. News this morning from London, headquarters of the Polish government in exile, shows that the dispute is balanced on razor edge.

Russia has offered to negotiate on the basis of the so-called Curzon line, which roughly is the frontier adopted by the Red Army when it occupied eastern Poland in 1939. The Soviet intends to keep most of this territory but is willing to discuss some adjustments of the border.

In addition—and this is where the fate of Prussian militarism is involved—the Russians offer Poland German territory which presumably would include East Prussia and part of Prussia proper—dominant state of the Reich. Now it's interesting—and perhaps a hopeful sign—that Moscow's willingness to see Poland make these annexations coincides with a claim already made by the Polish government. Of course, the Poles also demand return of the area which Russia proposes to retain—but that's another side of the story.

Last autumn Karol Popiel, Polish minister of state, made this statement to A. I. Goldberg, an Associated Press correspondent in London:

"All the United Nations agree post-war occupation of Germany is necessary. It is obvious that the Poles, knowing the Germans better than anyone else, will take part in the obligation of serving as occupation authorities. This will not affect the eventuality of Poland having to bring part of certain German territories within her boundaries.

"Certainly the territories east of the River Elbe, the area Germany cultivated for years as the home of the Herenvolk after trying to displace the Slavonic peoples who formerly inhabited it, must be occupied and its German inhabitants re-educated (this area comprises a large section of Prussia).

"Silesia must return to Poland. East Prussia must be exterminated. It must be part of Poland."

"Extermination" of East Prussia—perhaps with transfer of all Germans back to the fatherland—would remove one of the running sores of eastern Europe. It's a hot-bed of Junkerism. The Junker belongs to the insufferable "Me und Gott" Prussian aristocracy, which believes that the Prussian race was born to rule and has maintained its supremacy with lash and sword.

Polish annexation of some other bits of Prussia proper might serve a useful purpose. The Poles understand the Prussian mentality and know how to deal with it.

As Karol Popiel said, Prussia east of the Elbe—a huge slice of Germany—will have to be occupied by the Allies and re-educated. That will be a long and difficult task, for while a Prussian child may be susceptible to new ideas and ideals, it's highly doubtful whether an adult Prussian can understand anything short of man-handling, and that won't make him change his mind. The job remoulding Prussia is likely to take a generation, and many observers believe that a realignment of territories, such as involved in some Polish annexations, might be of real assistance.

AIRPLANES AT $1,000 AFTER WAR, PROMISE

DETROIT, Jan. 14—(AP)—An aircraft session of the Society of Automotive Engineers heard predictions today that the post-war period will bring privately-owned airplanes costing as little as $1,000 and a large market for private planes if industry creates it.

William D. Hall of the Aeronca Aircraft Corporation, Middletown, Ohio, visualizing planes for pleasure, business and sport, automatically controlled at least to the equivalent of "bath tub safety," described three post-war types.

A lower-powered, two-place trailer selling for around $1,000, he said, would represent "the minimum amount of aircraft that will satisfactorily fly." Others were a super-safe, two, four, or five-place model selling for $1,500 to $3,000, and a two-place, low-wing, high-powered, top performance plane selling for $2,000.

TYPHUS EPIDEMIC IN NAPLES PERIL TO ALLIES

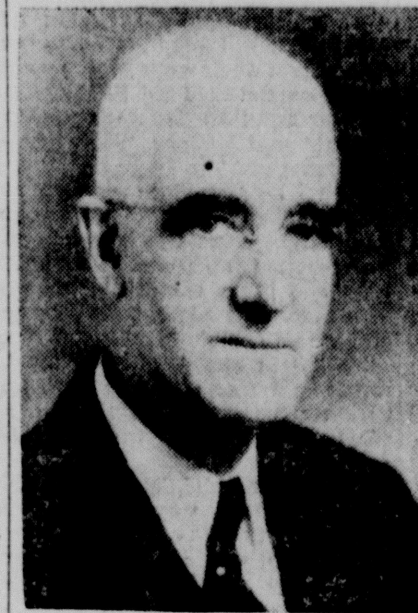

CAIRO, Jan. 14—(AP)—A typhus epidemic is now raging in Naples 50 times as extensive as it was in October and has become a potential menace to the Allied War effort, although the disease has not spread to the troops, Brig. Léon A. Fox of Birmingham, Ala., said today. Fox declared "Naples is

Foreign Missions Convocation
At First Presbyterian
Tuesday

One of the five leaders in Presbyterian foreign missions to be at the First Presbyterian Church next Tuesday afternoon and evening is Rev. Reuben A. Torrey of Tsinan, China.

Rev. Torrey has spent 29 years in Shantung Province in China, of which Tsinan is the capital, and has been the missionary leader of the surrounding four thousand villages. His position as a spec-alist in city and country evangelistic work has taken him throughout the nation, visiting Christian centers, helping establish new churches, taking part in tent evangelism and summer training conferences.

"The Chinese themselves have placed great responsibilities on Rev. Torrey during his life among them. He was executive secretary of International Famine Relief Commission of Shantung during 1920-21. He lived on the unpredictable Yellow River for almost three decades and has seen the tragedy of flood in China. He has directed relief work after Yellow River floods, has met Chinese of all classes, visited many provinces and has had vital contact with numerous diplomatic and commercial representatives," Rev. John K. Abernethy, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, says.

During 1927 and 1928 he stayed in the United States to be secretary of the home base office in St. Louis. After more than 30 years in China, Rev. and Mrs. Torrey returned in 1942 on the "Gripsholm" and since that time, he has traveled for the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church as speaker and leader in forum discussions.

Rev. Torrey will be one of the team having charge of the afternoon women's meeting and the evening popular session at the First Presbyterian Church here next Tuesday. "Those of all denominations are invited to join with us in taking advantage of these two forums on foreign affairs at 4 P. M. and 7:30 P. M.

Another year of substantial growth was shown by report made at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Milledgeville Bank of Jeffersonville. The same directors and other officers were elected for the coming year.

ANNUAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

Milledgeville Bank Names Same Officers

Total deposits of the institution are now around $640,000, or a gain of upward of $300,000 since the bank was moved to Jeffersonville.

The bank also celebrated its 40th anniversary the past year, having been founded at Milledgeville in August, 1903.

The following directors were re-elected and reorganized as indicated: President, A. F. Ervin; vice-president, Frank Hidy; Forrest P. Smith, Marie Smith Ropp, Ray Maddox, W. W. Williams and Clyde M. Allen.

Oliver S. Nelson was again chosen cashier of the bank, after completing 15 years in that position.

Fighting Man's Viewpoint

It has remained for a sailor—a common, ordinary seaman aboard a warship somewhere in the South Pacific where the Japs hang out—a youngster who makes no pretense to being a writing man—to do what professional writers have been trying for months to accomplish.

Kenneth Walsh of Muncie, Ind., in his home town paper, the Muncie Press, has written an epic interpretation of how the men who are fighting this war for $50 a month, room and board, feel toward men making a hundred dollars a week, more or a little less, who strike for a few additional cents an hour.

"When you were a kid, Mr. Striker, you studied about the American heritage of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," wrote Seaman Walsh. "Well, read it again and then again; study it; delve back into the pages of American history and show me anything in the American creed of living that will justify your war-time strikes."

"Come out here with us in these South Pacific waters and stay awhile. Eat our chow, sleep in our sacks, watch us work, help us fight these jungle flies, help us kill malaria-bearing mosquitoes. Walk with us in the sweltering, steamy heat of a noon-day sun."

"There isn't any air-conditioning out here, Mr. C. I. O., and there isn't any way you can strike for it, either."

"Come with me to the bridge over the jungle river. I want you to see someone who would make you ashamed of that extra 50 cents an hour you get in your pay envelope. He's just a 17-year-old kid that the brass hats put on duty at this infrequent bridge for the simple reason that he isn't sure of himself any more."

"Did I hear you ask what's wrong with him? He was on a destroyer that took three 'fish' amidships and blew up, Mr. Twenty-Dollar-a-Day. His brother was on that ship, too. There were but a few survivors from a crew of 300, and his brother was not among them. He's plain shell-shocked. Talk to him a while, watch him; he'll break your heart, man if you have one."

"Did you ask me how much money he makes, Mr. Welder—$50 a month, room and board."

There's much more, in the same vein—a vein of bitterness, of disillusionment, of reproach. In one powerful, tight-packed piece of heart-rending prose Seaman Walsh says what hundreds or perhaps thousands of men, facing death and mutilation under the most unbearable conditions for "$50 a month, room and board," have tried less effectively to say.

Give 'Em Anything They Need

It is to be hoped that all Americans lucky enough to be living in their natural home environment during the recent holidays have been turning their minds and hearts toward the Pacific war zone. There many of their men-folk, who by such sacrifice make this home comfort possible, have been wallowing in blood and mud. Such contrast must be kept in mind, lest too many well-meaning but self-centered civilians lose their war-time perspective.

It helps to preserve reality when the home folks read of such warnings as these,

Regular Nip Keeps Tiny Baby Healthy

BATON ROUGE, La.—Baby Betty Sue Beeson, believed to be Baton Rouge's smallest baby and certainly its tiniest "imbiber," hasn't been much affected by the national liquor shortage.

Betty Sue weighed two pounds and three ounces at birth. For a month she had alternate feedings of milk and whisky-and-water—and, according to hospital nurses, liked the latter better. Now she weighs nearly four pounds.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther W. Beeson is still in the hospital's oxyginaire, but is expected to be taken home when she reaches six pounds, probably early in 1944.

If you happen to be seated at a table next to a wounded soldier whose arm is in a sling, and a piece of steak is on his plate, you could cut the meat for him, doing it as if the whole thing was a matter of course.

Today's Horoscope

The person celebrating a birthday today should be satisfied with second best. Yours is the ability to do big things, and you are not easily discouraged. You have a sympathetic heart and concern yourself with the misfortunes of others. You are understanding and will make a loving parent, enjoy the ideal marriage and a happy home life. Sudden business annoyances threaten you. Avoid quarrels and hasty actions. Employ tact and tolerance and then some good fortune will materialize in the next year. Safeguard the health of the women of your family. Born on this date, a child will be somewhat contradictory, but highly intellectual and refined. He or she will be easily roused, and easily appeased. Careful dieting will be advisable.

issued to the jungle fighters: "Don't yell for a corpsman when a buddy gets hit, and thus put the spotlight on him." And, "Don't forget to dig a deep foxhole with overhead cover, even if you stop only for an hour."

It has been surprising, however, to read such holiday suggestions as "a comfortable pair of slippers or moccasins for a marine to rest his dogs after a hard jaunt in the jungle." That would undoubtedly be wonderful comfort, if there were solid soil to stand on, and if fighting men in the jungle had any leisure to wear slippers.

News from the fighting areas so far has not been reassuring on that point. Realistic descriptions seem to indicate that it is usually a long time between opportunities for removing boots and washing weary and blistered feet.

Supply officers in this war, though, learn from daily experience. Clean socks and light slippers might give a chance for shoes to dry while a soldier sleeps. If slippers can be used, let 'em have 'em.

A Good Plan

It would be difficult to conceive a use for war prisoners more ironically apt than that devised by the WMC regional directors in Chicago and Detroit, Messrs. William H. Spencer and Robert Goodwin, and sponsored by Linwood L. Noyes, publisher of the Iron Mountain, Mich., News, and president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Some 1200 Axis prisoners are to be used to chop pulp wood and, in the mills, make it into newsprint for use of the free American press.

Perhaps, in the process, those victims of totalitarianism will get some inkling of the value that a free people places upon freedom of expression and the media thereof.

Quiz Provides Test of Nutrition I. Q.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THERE HAS BEEN plenty of reading matter for the lay public on nutrition in the last few years. You may have read a lot of this material, but how much has stuck?

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The best way to test real knowledge is by a quiz. Try out the quiz below on your nutrition education. (Courtesy Hygeia, the authoritative Health Magazine.)

1. What foods contain sugar?
2. Do vitamins have any flavor?
3. What is the Oslo breakfast?
4. What do you do most often in the kitchen which destroys vitamins?
5. What foods in your Victory Garden contain the most Vitamin A (the night-blindness vitamin)?
6. How may the expectant mother get enough calcium in her diet?
7. What foods are the best blood builders?
8. Which cut of pork contains the most riboflavin (Vitamin G—the anti-sore-mouth vitamin)?
9. Which contains more iron—an egg or an ounce of raisins?
10. What foods most frequently cause gas?
11. How can you be sure that baby's food retains its vitamins?
12. Is pie fattening?

Answers
1. All foods, even meat, contain more or less sugar.

2. Of course vitamins in tablets or capsules do not have any flavor, but Nature has provided that these necessary chemicals are linked in foods that have flavor that is attractive to the palate. So if you eat what tastes good—pure sugar and molasses excepted for those with a sweet tooth—you are likely to get a good supply of vitamins.

3. The Oslo breakfast is named after the practice initiated at Oslo, Norway, of giving school children a mid-morning lunch which requires no cooking or serving equipment.

4. Leaving the milk bottle on the porch in the sun, cutting up fruits and vegetables long before serving, overcooking of vegetables.

5. Beans, beet greens, carrots, lettuce, spinach, tomatoes, turnip greens, kale, squash and sweet potatoes.

6. A quart of milk a day and two servings of fruit and vegetables.

7. Meat, eggs, spinach, oatmeal, beans, peas, prunes, nuts.

8. Liver.

9. The egg.

10. A questionnaire to 500 people brought out this list—onions most often, cabbage, raw apples, radishes, dried beans, cucumbers, milk, melon, cauliflower, chocolate, peanuts.

11. Cook in a pressure cooker or anything that keeps the air out.

12. An ordinary slice of pie contains 250 to 450 calories, but if that doesn't jump your total daily calorie intake over 2,500 to 3,500 calories it isn't fattening.

Yankee Senorita

BY LORENA CARLETON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER NINETEEN

"PRISM" DEMANDED Mallory Baker, while still twisting her head in a painful position to regard the posters that advertised her own appearance on Dec. 21, "do you see what I see?"

"Yes, but I regard it as insignificant."

"Insignificant, you mean—and just what do you mean?"

"I simply mean, Miss Mallory, I think it's sorta silly to raise such a ruckus over this one batch of posters when they are all over everywhere. I've seen them 10 times, 12 times, I betcha, already."

"Where, for heaven's sake?"

"The Negroes said, 'All over, Miss Mallory. All over. On sides of vacant buildings, on telephone poles. Just like in any town where you're gonna sing. You was just too busy gettin' us lost to notice them.'"

"You could have called my attention to them."

"The singer's peevishness aroused a grunt in Prism."

"And had you start this fussin' sooner? No thanks. I could wait for that." A sly grin began making little black mountains of her cheeks. "Guess Mr. Patrick kinda put it over on you after all, like he said."

"Like he said?" echoed the blond girl. She turned and gave her maid a look of cold animosity. "What is this, anyway? Seems there must have been something Mr. Patrick said that you didn't bother to tell me when we had our little talk in Dallas. Naturally you just forgot."

"Sure," replied Prism, in pleased indifference to the girl's sarcasm. "Just like I used to forget to tell you lots of times when that Mr. Darlen telephoned. I was the most forgetful person about him whatever, wasn't I, Miss Mallory?"

"Again her fat jowls lit in a grin. "Of course it would be all right since he turned out to be the wrong man."

As they carried on this trivial battle, their voices had lowered rather than risen. They practically were whispering now. The girl swept her scornful gaze from the Negroes to her driver. Although his eyes were intent on traffic, she changed that scornful gaze to one of friendliness.

"Forgive us, Armando, for whispering. We were discussing something rather personal."

The boy gave the usual Latin shrug. "That's okay-dokey, senorita. I could hear it all anyway."

Just then he drove into a vast plaza where buses, streetcars, taxis, private automobiles and pedestrians all seemed to be fighting for their traffic rights, not only for their own, but they tried to rob others. Various horns blared, often in such a distinct pattern of blasts that it sounded like a code. It was, Mallory learned before long, a code undeniably insulting because blasphemous retorts always followed.

Armando was managing intricate driving problems with adroitness hidden beneath that dreaminess the Latin can assume at will. When vehicles on both sides threatened to make him the apex of a "V," he just applied his hand to the horn and spoke his own series of insulting blasts, as he glided on by.

Too, he added spoken oaths to those of the automobile horn. Although he screamed in Spanish, Mallory knew he was hurling oaths, partly by his expression, also because he invariably turned and said in his quite good English, "I beg your pardon," fast words because he had so little time to waste before hurling further denunciations.

"What do you call this—busy place?" Awful place, the girl had been about to say.

"The Zocalo, senorita."

"Isn't there any other way to get to the hotel?"

Armando was hurt. "But, Miss Baker, you are a tourist. You must see everything that Mexico has to offer. Why, this plaza has been the center of Mexico City for over 600 years. This is the exact spot where the Aztecs saw the eagle sitting on a cactus, holding a snake in its talons. They thought it was an omen from their gods that meant they should settle here. So they did, and our beautiful city was started."

"Oh!" said Mallory. "It is thrilling, Armando."

"Yes," he agreed, appeased now that he had her interest. "You know, right below this square is an underground museum filled with idols and other things the Aztecs left there. A few have been dug up and are on exhibit."

Mallory glanced at her maid, whose face was suddenly as glum as if she were walking through a cemetery. "What's the matter, Prism?"

"Nothin', nothin', 'cept they sure resurcited from way back down here, don't they?"

Armando was guiding the car out of the plaza onto Cinco de Mayo, one of the main streets. Safely there, in a flurry mid compared to that of the frenzied Zocalo, he told them, "In a crypt beneath a chapel in San Angel we have a lot of mummies."

"Snakes alive!" yelled Prism. "They ain't got no business bein' no closer than Egypt."

"How do you know all these things, Armando?" queried the blond singer. "Are you a guide?"

"No. Not yet, anyway. I'm supposed to be too young. I'm nothing but a car-boy. But I know as much as many guides, senorita. Truly, I do. If only," he lamented, "I'd been old enough to act as a guide during the golden days when the tourists were down by the thousand's. Of course we now are getting a new kind of visitor, those refugees with money who used to spend their time on the Riviera. Craftily he asked, 'Perhaps I could be your guide, Miss Baker? Oh, I'd work very hard, senorita. Truly I'd slave for you—so that you say I be your driver and guide? Okay-dokey, Miss Baker?'"

"Well—I really, Armando," the girl stammered.

"Then well consider it settled," said the boy, before she could make a refusal out of her stammering. "That's the way things should be decided. At once!"

Dexterously the boy was weaving her automobile right to the end of the street and into a curved enormous white building that reminded Mallory of a wedding cake.

"There!" he proclaimed, snatching one hand from the steering wheel for one infinitesimal second to point toward that marble structure. "The Palacio de Bellas Artes, Miss Baker, where all Mexico will kneel at your feet. See the publicity?"

"Yes," said Mallory faintly. "I see it." A horrible feeling of being trapped made her turn to her maid. But Prism said nothing. Her shoulders simply rose in a shrug, stolen from Armando. She shouldn't have stolen it, for in him the gesture was native and graceful; in Prism it was an upheaval.

"You do not like your publicity?" deploring the boy. "You are not happy?"

"I'm bewildered," Mallory knew she must not disillusion this admirer any more than those back on the International bridge. "Bewildered that the publicity began so early."

"Ah," chuckled Armando, "do not believe we do everything 'Mexican Time' down here. Why, these posters have been up a week."

"Tod Patrick must have worked fast," she raged inwardly.

"Senorita," Armando went on, "truly it was like seeing an angel drop from heaven when you appeared on our street tonight. I'm so happy you got lost."

The machine was bending into Paseo de la Reforma; now, that impressive boulevard designed by the Empress Carlotta. Soon Armando stopped before a tall, modern building.

"The Montecito will be convenient, Miss Baker. You can get a lovely apartment and have your maid right with you."

He began to attend to matters with a speedy capability that even baffled Prism. He directed bellboys with luggage, led the girl and her servant up the steps, talked in rapid Spanish to the desk attendant, then said to her, "Sign!"

A few minutes later, leading her on a hand-waving tour of her quarters, he said, "Forty pesos a day, senorita." Roughly $8, the girl figured. Eight dollars for splendor that would cost $25 or $35 most places. A living room, two large bedrooms with baths, a kitchenette, a balcony where she could gaze down upon Reforma boulevard—where had she formed that rustic opinion of Mexico City? That idea of cooking over a campfire?

Armando was repeating, "Forty pesos, but that means nothing to you, does it, senorita? You are rich like a queen, aren't you, Miss Baker?"

The girl caught on. She gave him a 10-peso bill and managed to tame him, still bowing and walking backwards out the door. "Get a clean shirt for tomorrow," she yelled before closing it.

Then she walked to the telephone. "Get me Mr. Tod Patrick at the Park Lane in New York City."

Understand Your Federal Income Tax

WHEN AND WHERE TO FILE RETURNS

Income tax returns of citizens and residents of the United States are required by law to be made on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year, which for most individuals is the calendar year. Accordingly, returns for the calendar year 1943 must in general be filed not later than midnight of Wednesday, March 15, 1944.

Nonresident aliens who are residents of Canada or Mexico, and whose wages are subject to collection of United States income taxes at the source by withholding under the pay-as-you-go system, are also required to file their returns at the same time as United States citizens and residents generally, that is, by March 15, 1944.

Returns by nonresident aliens who are not on the current tax payment system must be made on or before the 15th day of the sixth month after the close of the taxable year, or June 15, 1944, for the calendar year of 1943.

If a taxpayer died in 1943, his final return should be filed by his executor or administrator not later than (a) the 15th day of the sixth full calendar month following the date of his death, if his last taxable year began in 1942, or (b) March 15, 1944, if his last taxable year began in 1943.

Members of the military or naval forces who, when the return is due, are on active duty outside the Americas or the continental United States (the States and the District of Columbia), or are on sea duty, may postpone filing returns and making payments of tax, until the 15th day of the fourth month following the month in which they cease to serve on sea duty or outside the continental United States, but not beyond the 15th day of the third month following the month in which the war ends.

This postponement applies also to civilian employees of the United States Government, or of Federal agencies, who are detained by an enemy government, or are beleaguered or besieged by enemy forces.

Other individuals who have been continuously outside the Americas for more than 90 days are allowed a postponement for filing a return or paying a tax, amounting to such period plus 90 days, but not beyond the 15th day of the third month following the month in which the present war ends.

Civilian citizens of the United States who, on March 15, 1944, are residing or traveling outside of the States, the District of Columbia, and Hawaii, but within the Americas, are allowed an extension of time until June 15, 1944, for filing the 1943 return. Those who take advantage of this extension must pay interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum on the unpaid tax, if any, from the original due date, usually March 15, until paid.

If an individual dies after returning to the United States from beyond the Americas, the postponement to which he was entitled cannot extend beyond the 15th day of the third month following the month in which an executor, administrator, or conservator of his estate qualifies.

In unusual circumstances a resident individual may be granted an extension within which to file a return, upon application to the collector of internal revenue for his district, if appropriate reasons are shown. If the extension is granted, the taxpayer is subject to an interest charge of 6 percent per annum on the amount of tax payable, from the original due date until paid.

Returns must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or principal place of business. Taxpayers with no legal residence or place of business within the United States should mail their returns to the collector of internal revenue, Baltimore, Md.

If returns are filed by mail, they should be mailed in ample time to reach the collector's office under ordinary handling of the mails on or before the due date.

Washington at a Glance

By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON—The average American must be constantly amazed at the wonderful adventures of the anonymous gent on his front page, the well-informed "Swedish traveler."

Allied bombs rip up Berlin and—in a matter of hours—the Swedish traveler is home from Germany, telling his Stockholm friends all about it.

With his motoring slowed to a walk and his train travel only a memory, the ex-American gad-about must marvel at the speed and ease with which the touring Swedes appear to shuttle between Berlin and Stockholm. The "Swedish traveler" has become the most interviewed man in the bombings of Berlin.

He seems a most unaccountable fellow unless you happen to ask the Swedish legation about his comings and goings. There is an explanation.

A legation spokesman explained that, although greatly restricted by the red tape of war, civilian travel still is possible between Berlin and Stockholm. The trip by air takes a little more than three hours.

Of course, it takes months to get a visa, but once it is in hand the Swedish national is free to go on the first non-military plane out, if he can make it.

Swedish newspapers still have correspondents in Berlin. Although they probably know the identity of fellow citizens who have made arrangements to leave Germany, it's a routine matter to ask the potential traveler to call the office as soon as he gets home.

The legation said Swedish newspapers keep reporters regularly assigned to commercial

SEVENTEEN BOYS REGISTER HERE IN PAST MONTH

Number of 18-year-olds for Month Is Larger Than Usual

Seventeen Fayette County youths who attained their 18th birthday during December, have registered for military service, and the usual blanks will be filled out by each one who has not already done so.

These 18-year-olds will be given special schooling unless they volunteer, before formal induction into the military service later on, if they are physically fit.

The monthly number has been running 10 to 14, and the December number is the largest during any month since the registration of 18-year-olds started.

Under the law all youths who attain the age of 18 years must register on their birthday.

Following is the list of December registrants and their addresses:

Robert Eugene Beedy, 525 Fourth Street, city.
Forrest Alvin Jordan, route 2.
William Daniel Willis, 604 East Elm Street, city.

COASTAL DEFENSE IS REDUCED TO SWELL OVERSEAS OFFENSIVE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Military establishments in the coastal areas of the United States are being reduced in order to augment offensive forces overseas, and the army's eastern and central defense commands are to be consolidated in a move to free military forces for combat assignments.

Secretary of War Stimson made these announcements today on behalf of both War and Navy Departments.

In connection with Army-Navy coastal defense reduction, Stimson said "a considerable number" of units, retained in coastal areas for training, would be available for coastal defense in case of emergency.

GASOLINE RATIONING HAS SILVER LINING

Wife Uses It To Try To Keep Husband at Home

CLEVELAND, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A disgruntled wife sent a letter to the regional office of Price Administration in which she sought today to end her husband's motor trips to out-of-town dances.

"I would like for you to see that the rationing board does not issue a B gas stamp to my car, (Ohio) license number —", the letter read, "My husband said he uses it to sell insurance. But he uses it to go to dances out of town. . . . He knows the women on the rationing board and a box of chocolate helps. . . ."

Wilson G. Stapleton, regional OPA information director, said the letter would be forwarded to OPA district officials in southern Ohio.

LOCAL OFFICE RANKS THIRD IN THE STATE

3,125 Persons Given Jobs Through Employment Office Here

Placement statistics for 1943, of the United States Employment Service in Ohio, for percent of increase over 1942, reveals that the Washington Court House office ranked third among the fifty-two field offices.

Ward C. Miller, manager of the local USES office stated Tuesday that his office placed a total of 3,125 persons in jobs during 1943, as compared with 796 in 1941 and 882 in 1942.

The 1943 placements were made in the following industries: Agriculture, 112 (to June, after which date the county agricultural agent and his staff assumed responsibility for servicing labor needs of local farmers); construction, 180; food products, 1291; war plants, 1017; wholesale and retail trade, 109; transportation and public utilities, 249; leather products, 61; service industries, 15; private households, 18, and all others, 73.

A total of 50 war veterans were placed in jobs and 1201 women were directed to various types of new employment.

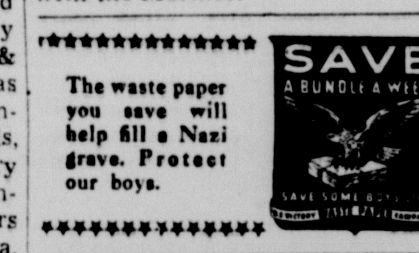

In addition to this record-breaking placement activity, the local office accepted and acted upon 3036 applications for statements of availability and inter-area clearances for workers seeking employment or changing jobs.

Miller requested all single women and married women with minor children to offer their services in local essential industries. "Washington Court House ranks high in the state, relating to women in war work, and the duration of this war depends largely on the continuance of this patriotic duty on the home front by our women," Miller said.

The U. S. Employment Service, 104 E. Market Street, will be glad to explain details regarding this work to anyone interested.

BOND BUYERS ASKED TO CREDIT CLUBS

Purchasers Should Contact Bond Chairmen

When anyone buys a bond in the Fourth War Loan Drive, beginning next Tuesday, they are asked to report the purchase, amount and date, to the bond chairman of the organization the purchaser wants to have credit, Mrs. Martha Reiff, chairman of women's activities on the War Finance Committee, said today.

She explained that many purchases designated for organizations were not reported during the last drive and the credit was lost.

"Fayette County organizations are on a competitive basis with other counties and we want to make a good showing this time," Mrs. Reiff said. She makes a weekly report of bonds bought through and by organizations to the state chairman in charge of women's activities.

Each organization is expected to buy a bond as well, Mrs. Reiff reminded.

New Probation Officer Is Mrs. W. L. Peterson

Mrs. W. L. Peterson is Fayette County's new probation officer.

Termed "a full-time job" by Miss Mary D. Robinson, who was granted a leave of absence from her post to give all her time to Red Cross activities, Mrs. Peterson goes into her new work with experience in dealing with people, gleaned from her positions as secretary at Dahl-Campbell's before her marriage and more recently as head of the record mailing and filing department in the signal section at Patterson Field, as receptionist at the Selective Service board here and, since December, in the Fayette County probate court.

Miss Robinson said she would be glad to advise Mrs. Peterson in regard to her new duties. Probate Judge Otis B. Core said Mrs. Peterson was named to the office after a meeting of the Red Cross board here requesting that Miss Robinson give full time to her Red Cross duties.

Mrs. Peterson's office will be in the probate court room with hours from 9 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. To make it convenient for clients to interview Mrs. Peterson, her desk is just inside the first door of the probate court, at the right of the Court Street entrance to the Court House.

Mrs. Peterson has three children, Betty, a senior at Ohio State University; Marjorie, a sophomore at Washington High School and Tommy, a freshman at WHS. Their home is at 914 Yeoman Street.

WIRE COMPANY CONVICTED ON CONSPIRACY CHARGES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 14.—(AP)—A federal grand jury has convicted the Anaconda Wire and Cable Company and four officials of conspiring to manufacture and deliver defective wire to the Army Signal Corps.

Judge John P. Hartigan continued the cases for sentence until next Tuesday and refused the defendants bail.

The maximum penalty is a $1,000 fine or two years in jail or both.

A GAS EMERGENCY

Every effort is being made to maintain your gas service during this time of extreme conditions. Factories which are declared non-essential or war plants which can catch up later with their production have cut or discontinued their use of gas. The remaining war plants must be kept going.

Please observe the following curtailments in your use of gas until the emergency passes. Your efforts will go far in helping prevent complete outage in some neighborhoods or communities.

Until Further Notice Please Make These Cuts In Your Uses of Gas

HEATING —

UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD GAS BE USED TO SUPPLEMENT THE HEAT FROM COAL OR OIL FURNACES. DON'T PERMIT YOURSELF TO USE THE RANGE OVEN, GAS GRATES OR HEATERS FOR SUPPLEMENTAL HEATING. EVEN SMALL AMOUNTS USED FOR THIS PURPOSE MIGHT CAUSE A COMPLETE OUTAGE IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD.

Those solely dependent on gas for heating should confine their living to as few heated rooms as possible. Close off bedrooms, recreation rooms, sun porches and even dining rooms where this can be accomplished. The heated quarters should not be more than 65 degrees in daytime and 55 degrees at bedtime or after hours in a place of business.

WATER HEATING —

Shut off ALL water heaters. Heat water on your range top only for bare necessities. Postpone baths and laundry until emergency ends.

COOKING —

Confine your cooking to one hot dish per meal. This appeal is made to those eating in restaurants and hotels as well as homes. Postpone home baking until the emergency is past.

During the emergency there is a constant possibility of a gas outage at your premises. Gas appliances not having automatic safety shut offs should not be left burning unless there is an adult person at hand to turn them off immediately in case the service is interrupted.

Helen Tool Is Hostess to Card Club and Shower

Miss Helen Tool entertained the members of a newly-formed hearts club at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon V. Tool, Thursday evening, and guest of honor for the occasion was Mrs. Lewis Elliott (formerly Betty Saum) who was feted with a surprise miscellaneous shower.

The members spent the evening at the small tables in the living room, and a jolly and congenial time was enjoyed with prizes awarded at the end of the evening to Misses Anna Varlas and Jean Everhart.

The hostess then invited her guests to the dining room where the table was prettily decorated and appointed along a pink and white color scheme. An appetizing salad course was served by the hostess. The table was centered with a watergarden arrangement of snapdragons, flanked by tall pink tapers in double candlebras.

The guest of honor was showered with a lovely assortment of gifts during the evening, for which she made charming and appropriate response. The prettily wrapped gifts were cleverly concealed in a pink umbrella. She and Cadet Elliott were married October 25 in Montgomery, Alabama.

Those present with the hostess and honoree were Misses Frances and Florence Cook, Anna Varlas, Jean Everhart and Ann Robinson.

The hostess was assisted in extending the many pleasures of the evening by her mother, Mrs. Eldon V. Tool.

Bride-Elect of February 5

Miss Evelyn Mossbarger

Evelyn Mossbarger and Keith Garinger Will Exchange Vows in Methodist Parsonage In the Presence of Their Families

The announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Evelyn Mossbarger to Mr. Keith Garinger, was made at a dessert-bridge party entertained by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Urcel Mossbarger, Thursday evening.

The guests assembled at the Mossbarger home on West Elm Street for the serving of a dainty and appetizing dessert course and were seated at seven small tables placed in the living room. The tables were decorated in a pink and white color scheme, and a complete crystal table service was used. Mrs. Mossbarger was assisted in the serving by another daughter, Miss Elda Jayne Mossbarger.

Following the delightful and hilarious hour at the tables, the guests began playing bridge. This, however, was interrupted by the announcement which was found to be written on a card in each deck of cards at the five tables. The card read as follows: "Evelyn and Keith, February 5, 1944." The lovely bride-elect, who was wearing for this occasion, a blue street length frock trimmed with gold sequins, was then showered by her guests with many good wishes and happy felicitations.

The vows will be exchanged by Miss Mossbarger and Mr. Garinger in the parsonage of the Grace Methodist Church, in the presence of the immediate families, February fifth, at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. George B. Parkin will officiate.

The bride-elect has been employed at the Economy Savings and Loan Company for the past few years, and the bridegroom-to-be is engaged in farming on the Boggess Road. He is the son of Mrs. Zoe Garringer of Bloomingburg.

Prizes were awarded for high scores in bridge to Miss Rosemary Cox and Mrs. Gene Travis. High score in the hearts game went to Misses Grace Humphrey and Rebecca Coffey.

Those present were Mrs. Zoe Garringer, Miss Jean Garringer, Miss Mary Reser, Mrs. Paul Metzger, Miss Catherine Beatty, Mrs. Robert Fennig, Miss Jane Sexton, Mrs. Robert Hook, Miss Rosemary Cox, Miss Phyllis Chase, Mrs. Charles Weller, Mrs. Ben Timmons, Mrs. William McCoy, Mrs. Emerson Martin, Mrs. Gene Travis, Miss Kathleen Wilson, Miss Rebecca Coffey, Miss Betty Hard, Miss Jeanne Wollard, Mrs. Elmer Haymaker, Mrs. Velda Grant, Mrs. Homer Bireley, Mrs. Jack Hagerty, Mrs. Willis Coffman, Mrs. Emory Lynch, Mrs. Wallace Noon, Miss Juanita Purcell and Miss Grace Humphrey, the honoree and Mrs. Mossbarger.

Jimmie Moats Is Guest of Honor at Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moats entertained with a delightful birthday party Wednesday, honoring the ninth birthday of their son, Jimmie Dick.

The numerous guests invited to celebrate his birthday played several hilarious and entertaining games, after which they presented the guest of honor with a lovely assortment of gifts. He graciously thanked each, and then invited them to the dining room where the traditional birthday cake and ice cream was served.

It is of interest to note here that Wednesday was also the birthday of Eddie Mac Gault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gault, who also shared in the festivities.

Invited guests were Nancy James, Diane Elliott, Ann Devo, Nancy Kimmy, Rose Ann Helfrich, Linda Lou Gault, David Crone, Dickie Davis, Jimmy Michael, Bobby Boggess, Ronnie Dawson, Bobby and Jackie Moats, Mrs. Ray Davis, Mrs. Myers Kimmy and Mrs. Paul Gault.

Mt. Olive WSCS Meets Thursday Afternoon with Mrs. Amer Whiteside

The members of Mt. Olive WSCS met at the home of Mrs. Amer Whiteside, Thursday afternoon for the January meeting.

The afternoon's session was on the topic, "The Lord's Song in a Strange Land," and this was capably given by Miss Cora Plymire.

At the close of the interesting address by Miss Plymire, the hostess, Mrs. Whiteside, who was assisted by Miss Jean Marie Irons, served delicious refreshments.

West coast factories in the U. S. had an average of almost 100 planes a day between Pearl Harbor and December, 1943.

Mrs. Rowe Is Guest Speaker At Progress Club

The Progress Club, of Jeffersonville, held their annual election and casserole luncheon at the home of Mrs. O. L. Wiseman in Jeffersonville, and a pleasurable afternoon was enjoyed by the nineteen members and four guests present.

The luncheon was served at one o'clock and the serving table was prettily decorated with a bowl of white cut flowers, flanked by tall white tapers in crystal candlelabras. The guests were seated at several small tables arranged in the spacious and attractive living room.

Following the luncheon, during which the numerous hospitalities were graciously extended by the hostess, the election of officers was held.

The results were that the officers of the past year were retained to serve in the coming year. They are: President, Mrs. Lelia Wissler; first vice-president, Mrs. Edna French; second vice-president, Mrs. Anna Creamer; secretary, Mrs. Hazel DeLaRue; assistant secretary, Mrs. Margaret Morrow; treasurer, Miss Maude Wood and press correspondent, Mrs. Maude Straley.

Newly-elected members of the Executive Board are chairman, Mrs. Mina Morris, and Mrs. Mary Ervin and Mrs. Grace Lanum. The roll call for the meeting was the choice of topics for the coming year's program, and these were handed in to the chairman of the board for consideration.

An interesting program in charge of Mrs. Annette Rowe of this city, was then presented and she had as her topic, "Acquiring a Love of the Land and Appreciation of Ancestry."

She gave a book review of "Jacob's Corners", written by Jake Falstaff, to illustrate her talk. Following the interestingly given book review she displayed to the group a picture taken at a Progress Club meeting forty years ago. After this it was called to the members attention that Mrs. Rowe is a former member of the club, and that three generations of her family have belonged to the club. They are: Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Mina Morris and a new member, Mrs. Theresa Craig.

To close the program numerous saxophone and piano numbers were given by Ruth Eleanor and Lois Wiseman.

Elmwood Ladies Aid Meets with Mrs. Roy Lunbeck

The Elmwood Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Roy Lunbeck, Thursday afternoon, and thirty members were present for the interesting meeting.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Floyd Tracey and devotions were given by Mrs. Lois Schiller.

The charity committee for the month is composed of the following: Mrs. Charles Runnels and Mrs. Miley Lloyd. The visiting committee is Mrs. Gertie Oliver and Mrs. Clara Lauderman.

Two new members were taken into the society at this meeting and they are Mrs. Juanita Wikle and Mrs. Margaret Shonkwiler.

Following this, Mrs. Mary Ruley conducted a state and river contest which was hugely enjoyed by the members, after which Mrs. Lois Schiller gave an entertaining reading.

During the course of the afternoon's session, plans were made to give a donation to the school hot lunch program.

Late in the afternoon, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mary Ruley, Mrs. Lois Schiller, Mrs. Frank Snyder and Mrs. Ola Bush, served dainty refreshments.

Thursday Kensington Club Meets at Home Of Mrs. F. L. Conard

The Thursday Kensington met at the home of Mrs. F. L. Conard for a most enjoyable afternoon of sewing and visiting, with approximately one hundred per cent attendance of the members.

The feature of the afternoon was the serving of a most appetizing dessert course in the dining room, and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Wert Briggs and Mrs. Charles Armstrong.

The Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority Meets Thursday

Thursday evening the Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma sorority met at the home of Miss Kathleen Davis, with Mrs. Elton Elliott and Miss Margaret Gibson as assisting hostesses.

A lengthy business meeting, conducted by the president, Miss Jane Durant, was followed by the program for the evening.

Mrs. Virginia Whiteside presented a well-prepared discussion covering the period in Russian history from Peter the Great to the revolution. Miss Edith Gardner ably talked on the topic, "The Russian Revolution, 1910, 1918." The government was superseded by the provisional government of which Karensky was the head. The provisional government was superseded by the Bolshevik government of which Lenin and Trotsky were the heads. The assassination of Czar Nicholas II and his family was the outstanding tragedy of the revolution.

At the close of the program the hostesses served very delicious refreshments.

Spring Grove WSCS Meets with Mrs. Campbell

The Spring Grove WSCS met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Colin Campbell, with thirty members and guests present for the many pleasures of the afternoon.

The meeting opened with the theme song sung in unison by the members, after which Mrs. Rosa Bradds had charge of the devotions and led the prayer.

The installation of officers took up the major part of the afternoon activities and this was conducted by Mrs. Edna Speakman.

Five new members were also taken into the society at this time who are Mrs. Heber McCoy, Mrs. Robert Parrett, Mrs. Glenn Vannorsdall, Mrs. Ora Whiteside and Mrs. Gene Rolfe.

At the close of the interesting session, the hostess served delicious refreshments and a jolly social hour was enjoyed, with Mrs. Campbell extending graciously the many hospitalities. During the social hour the group was entertained with a delightful piano solo by Mrs. Jack Armstrong.

T-Sgt. Jack Post, Jean Dohrman Exchange Vows

Technical Sergeant Jack Post, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Virgil H. Post, of Columbus, was united in marriage to Miss Jean Dohrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dohrman, 1781 Lindan Place, Columbus, Thursday evening at seven o'clock.

Rev. William Schlatter read the vows in the Hildreth Baptist Church, after which the newlyweds left for New York City, to spend their honeymoon.

T-Sgt. Post, a veteran of 25 bombing missions over Europe who wears the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, is a nephew of Mr. Walter S. Fufts of Washington C. H. and has made many friends here when visiting the Fufts' family.

Sgt. Post will report later to the AAF redistribution center at Atlantic City, N. J.

FRENCH POINT ADVANCE OF ALLIES IN ITALY AS REDS DRIVE IN POLAND

stroed during aerial operations yesterday for an Allied loss of five.

Commenting on the operation against Rome's airports, 2nd Lt. Joseph P. Leach, 18 New Long Place, Mansfield, O., a Fortress pilot, said the formation on this, his 17th mission, was the best he had ever seen and "the enemy fighters could not break it."

The Russian front in old Poland was widened to 80 miles as Red troops swept 46 miles inside the old frontier, captured Tuto-vichi, 11 miles beyond Sarny, and crossed the pre-war line beyond Novograd-Volynski.

The most crucial battles were east of Vinnitsa where the Germans made repeated counterattacks in an effort to hold open the Odessa-Warsaw railway as a lifeline to the armies still in the Dnieper bend sector. The Russians were within 21 miles of the railway and about five from the Bug River.

Before Vinnitsa, they killed 3,000 Germans and captured hundreds. Another 1,500 fell in the Mozyr area.

The Russians were within 95 miles of the Curzon line which Moscow insists is the approximate boundary of Poland and nearly halfway from Kiev to Warsaw.

ALL RED CROSS BRANCHES NOW AT ONE PLACE

Surgical Dressings Unit Is Only Exception and It Operates Separately

Now that the relief office is set up in the Court House, Red Cross headquarters has room to stretch and take a deep breath.

Every Red Cross-sponsored activity is now under one roof, except the surgical dressing unit which operates in Memorial Hall under complete supervision of Mrs. Martha Braun.

The two rooms occupied by the relief office are now used for home nursing classes. One of the rooms has two single beds and a bassinet set up to give home nursing students a chance to put their lecture classes to practical use. Home devices, such as a contraption made of barrel hoops to keep bedclothes off an injured foot or leg, are used almost exclusively in the two classes. The second of the two rooms is used for lectures.

In the sewing room upstairs, three sewing machines buzz at turning out kit bags for the Army and Navy—three gross of each kind. Downstairs in the room just back of Miss Mary Robinson's office are stored sewing kits, soap boxes, razor blades, playing cards, writing tablets, pint-sized novels, candy and cigarettes, shoelaces and other little items tucked into each bag.

Still in the Red Cross building on Court Street are heaps of clothing made by the WPA sewing project. Also stored away there are the sweaters and mufflers knitted for soldiers and sailors. Afghans for the wounded servicemen in hospitals here in the United States are made, too.

The nutrition class will be taught at Red Cross headquarters when enough registrations are turned in to Miss Robinson. Miss Marguerite Mauger, home economics teacher at WHS, will teach the class.

A. P. Hummel, field director from Washington, D. C., acting as district representative, told Miss Robinson, "I only wish more Red Cross centers were set up as well as this one is," when he visited here a few days ago. Hummel inspected the entire layout on his tour.

Lunch Will Be Served

Hilarious hi-jinks in the wild and wonderful West are set to music in Paramount's Technicolor laugh show, "Riding High," which is due next Sunday at the State Theatre. The picture co-stars Dorothy Lamour, Dick Powell and Victor Moore and features Gil Lamb, Cass Daley and Milt Britton and his Band. According to advance reports, it is full of fun and gay, tuneful songs delivered by hip songsters Dottie, Dick and Cass Daley in a way that is bound to make you remember them.

Victor Moore, who was last seen as Pop Porter in Paramount's "True to Life," has the role of a slick counterfeiter, just a couple of jumps ahead of the sheriff—played by Gil Lamb. The lovely Lamour is an ex-burlesque queen who has come home to the West to help her father in the operation of a silver mine which he owns in partnership with mining engineer Dick Powell. Dick has tried unsuccessfully, to sell stock in the mine so that they can raise enough money to get it going. Dottie suspects him of cheating her father so Dick has a hard time making romantic headway.

The goings-on—and there are plenty—take place on a dude ranch belonging to Cass Daley, who makes as funny a pistol-packing mama as anyone would want. Things start to hum, and not just musically, when Moore decides to play Cupid, with his counterfeit money!

In "Riding High" Paramount offers one of its merriest musicals to date, with six Hit Parade contenders—"You're the Rainbow," "Whistling in the Light," "Injun Gal, Heep Hep," "He Loved Me 'Til All Clear Came," "Get Your Man," "Willie, the Wolf of the West" and "I'm the Secretary to the Sultan."

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

The second session of the 78th Congress convened Monday, January 10th, with the House Membership made up of 218 Democrats, 208 Republicans, 4 Independents, and 5 vacancies. The Senate has 58 Democrats, 37 Republicans and 1 Progressive.

The Federal government starts the new year with a national debt of a little over one hundred and seventy billion dollars—just ten times as much as when Mr. Roosevelt took up his Presidential duties eleven years ago. Present commitments and obligations will increase the total public debt to at least two hundred and fifty billion dollars, and probably to three hundred billion, before peace comes. At the height of World War No. 1 the per capita reached the high mark of $250.18. At the present time it equals $1,210.52 for each man, woman and child in the United States.

National labor leaders have talked much about their "no strike" pledge and their support of the war effort. Official figures released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that the number of strikes in 1943 was almost double the average for the fifteen year preceding Pearl Harbor. During the year just closed there were 3737 strikes compared with the 1937-1941 average of 1945 work stoppages, and the 1942 total of 2968. However, man-days lost in 1943 fell slightly below the fifteen year average although many more workers were employed, proving that last year's strikes were of much shorter duration than usual.

Recent labor controversies and the anonymous charge made by a high government official that the threatened railroad and steel strikers were prolonging the war and costing thousands of additional lives, may result in the enactment of legislation for the more strict control of labor practices, perhaps even going so far as to prohibit all strikes in war time. The Congress, and especially the House, has long favored more strict labor legislation, but the President and his Administration have consistently opposed all labor reform bills before Congress. The Smith-Connally Bill, the only labor legislation enacted in recent years, was written into law over the President's veto. Since that time there has been no attempt made by the Executive Branch of the government to use or enforce the provisions of the Smith-Connally Act to curb improper labor practices.

Despite the insistence of livestock producers, farm organizations and national legislators from farm states, officials of the War Food Administration and the OPA continue their refusal to temporarily suspend ration point requirements on pork. As a result the market glut on hogs continues, with many packers and livestock yards refusing to accept further shipments from farmers. Fat hogs are of necessity being held on the farms, with heavy monetary and feed losses resulting. Storage facilities are filled to overflowing, with many reports of meat spoilage. This obstinate continuation of rationing food of which there is a surplus is a perfect example of bureaucratic bungling at its worst. While it is not good policy for Congress to legislate rationing requirements on individual items or products, Congressional action may become necessary in this particular instance to protect both the public and pork producers of the country.

Speaking of OPA: A constituent has reminded us that Lincoln's immortal Gettysburg Address contained only 266 words; the Ten Commandments 297 words; the story of the creation of the world in the Book of Genesis but 400 words; while the Declaration of Independence, setting up a new conception of political freedom, required only 1320 words; but the OPA finds it necessary to use 2500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seed.

Many reports have been reaching Members of Congress recently telling of the difficulties and delays encountered by discharged veterans of World War No. 2 in obtaining hospitalization, rehabilitation or compensation promptly following discharge from service. Many dependents of men killed in action are also writing their Congressmen relative to the slowness with which benefit payments are being made. A complete Congressional airing of the whole situation and legislation action to correct such conditions, are scheduled to come early in the new session. The Soldier's Vote Bill, the Mustering-out Pay Bill, and other legislation for the benefit of men and women of the armed forces will be given attention by the Congress within the next month or so.

The Senate will begin consideration of the new tax bill late this week or early next. Seemingly the Senate agrees with the House Membership that an increase in Federal taxes of around two billion dollars a year is sufficient, although the Treasury Department is still insisting on a ten billion dollar annual tax boost. At the present time there are unexpended balances of one hundred and eighty-six billion dollars in authorizations and appropriations for war purposes, ninety-two billions of which are still entirely unobligated. As predicted in this column many months ago at the beginning of hostilities, the only limitation on war expenditures has been the nation's ability to produce war materiel.

COAST GUARDSMAN FROM HERE TRANSFERRED FROM TRANSPORT AND RETURNED TO HOSPITAL

Pharmacist's mate Charles Pensyl, U. S. Coast Guard, today is recuperating in a naval hospital in San Diego, following an operation for appendicitis. His mother, Mrs. Madge Pensyl, Yeoman Street, first learned of her son's illness when he telephoned to assure her he was all right. And, now that it is all over, Mrs. Pensyl agreed that the navy policy of not notifying her before the operation was "fine." And, she concedes that it spared her days of worry and anxiety while she would have had to remain at home with "nothing to do about it."

But, it was no ordinary operation that Pensyl underwent. He was aboard a troop transport when he was stricken—the name of the ship, the date and the distance out and location in the Pacific, is a military secret. A patrol cutter was summoned, Mrs. Pensyl's son told her, and he was lashed to a stretcher and lowered over the side of the transport, rolling on the ocean waves, to the bobbing cutter and taken back to port. His experience was unusual.

In American naval records but not without precedent in the service that gives its men every consideration.

what ONE ACRE can do

America's food and feed production goals for 1944 exceed all records. The question is being asked—"How many more acres must be put under the plow?" In the face of labor and machinery shortages, the question might better be—"How much more can be produced on every acre now being farmed?"

Experiment station results show that the intelligent use of potash, properly balanced with other essential plant foods, can greatly increase yield and quality. If you do not know just how much potash your soil needs to make every acre do its best, your official agricultural advisers will tell you.

SHORTAGE OF PLAYERS MAY CRIMP PLANS FOR PRO FOOTBALL IN 1944

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(P)—After scanning the player situation for 1944 and finding an acute shortage, the National Football League was hesitant today to follow through with expansion plans until after the war.

Club owners shovelled a pile of unfinished business into their brief cases after winding up their two-day midwinter meeting yesterday. Their next stop will be in Philadelphia for their Spring session April 19. At that time they plan to take some kind of action on the bid for membership by Buffalo, N. Y., draw up a game schedule for the 1944 season and hold the yearly draft of college players.

Each team will draft 30 campus gridders. Last year's raffle of 300 graduates netted only 23 recruits, many of whom entered military service before the season closed.

Boston, definitely established as the league's 11th member for 1944, will select last in the draft under league regulations. Boston is greatly interested in Angelo Bertelli, the passing sensation who went to Notre Dame from Springfield, Mass. He now is in the Marines.

Tabled also were applications from Los Angeles and San Francisco. There is definite interest in Los Angeles and San Francisco for the post-war expansion plan.

Millers Bow To Alumni In 2 Games

Two out of three of the Madison Mills High School basketball teams took a deep bow to their alumni opponents after games Thursday night. Only the reserve team beat the alumni, and that by a slim 33-31 margin. The reserves turned in the best playing of the evening with nip and tuck race through all four periods.

The varsity kept the alumni guessing during the first half as scores sawsawed between the two, but the alumni skyrocketed away at the beginning of the third quarter to wind up with a 31-13 victory. Three of the alumni, Groff of the navy, Coffey and Grimm, both 1943 graduates, carried off scoring honors. The varsity girls team met its first opponent this year when it tangled with an experienced alumni team, some of whom are playing regularly on the API league. The experience of the alumni showed up in the 28-10 final score.

Thrown For a Loss

Angelo Bertelli (Mr. Notre Dame) told this one on himself at the Heisman trophy lunch in his honor. . . . When Bertelli reached Marine Boot camp at Parris Island, S. C., the drill instructor promptly called him out of the ranks and questioned him about football. . . . "Did you ever play guard?" the D. I. demanded. . . . "No sir," Angelo replied. . . . "Well, you have a new coach now," said the instructor, "and you'll play guard. You guard the huts while we shove off forchow."

One-Minute Sports Page

When the Southern Association Baseball Club owners get their pro football league started after the war, they're thinking of playing Wednesday night games as well as Sunday afternoons. . . . On a recent visit to San Francisco, 66-year-old Jack Johnson remarked: "The two most intelligent heavies in the ring were me and Gene Tunney and both of us were sons of stevedores. . . . Wonder what that makes Jimmy Braddock?"

School Boys And War Workers To Keep Minor League Going

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(P)—Baseball's lower class minors, planning a limited expansion in 1944, may have the answer to player shortage jitters in the use of schoolboys and part time defense workers.

A class E league, the twin ports, operating around Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., plans to go to the barrier on a twice-a-week schedule, a $250 monthly salary roof and talent recruited from local defense plants and school rooms.

Joe Donnelly, former president of the Ohio State League, already has reorganized his circuit to enter the class D field along with the Pony and Appalachian, only 1943 finishers.

According to Donnelly there is no reason why several new D or E leagues should not start this year. The Ohio president says, "they can open their seasons after school lets out and employ youngsters who will not be called in the draft, closing their schedules about a week before school starts in the fall. Those kids will hustle their heads off."

Class E is an experiment by the baseball folks who usually are not given to new-fangled ideas, but it may be the solution to many war-time problems.

Last year the Twin Ports League, the first E loop in history, failed to gain desired concessions and couldn't make a go of it.

White House officials report he now has recovered almost completely. He returned to work in his office two days ago.

Frequent cancellations of White House news conferences is nothing out of the ordinary. Numerous presidents have called them off since Theodore Roosevelt began holding them on an infrequent basis. So Mr. Roosevelt is setting no precedent.

Tax Bill First

The Senate Finance committee is readying the $2,275,000,000 added revenues bill for final action and is prepared to put it to a vote despite President Roosevelt's demand for more monies than would be provided by the pending legislation.

Your Move, Suh!

Threats of Southern Democrats to form a third party may be nipped in the bud at the White House "social" being planned for Dixie governors sometime next week. Recently the Southerners have shown signs of removing their "solid" support from the regular Democratic forces. But a number of governors from Southern states are due in Washington to renew demands for railroad freight rate equality and it is reported they will be received at a White House party.

New Subsidy Program

The administration plans to launch a new subsidy program, despite expected protests from Congress.

Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson revealed to two legislators last night that he had signed a directive establishing a subsidy for grapefruit juice canners.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) and Rep. Green (D-Fla.) said they were told the War Food Administration (WFA) would announce the program today, and agency officials confirmed this expectation.

CIO Faces Charges

The CIO leadership reserved immediate comment on a Justice Department inquiry into charges its political action committee had violated criminal provisions of the Smith-Connally anti-strike law through a fund-raising campaign.

Rep. Smith (D-Va.), co-author of the anti-strike law enacted last year, made the charges, asserting the political action committee was seeking "to influence, if not control, the 1944 elections."

The Virginian asked the Justice Department to investigate and present "the whole matter to a federal grand jury forthwith," and Attorney General Biddle promptly directed Tom C. Clark, head of the criminal division, to look into the charges and "take such action as the facts require."

Press Conferences Off

President Roosevelt, largely because of extensive wartime travels and occasional illnesses, apparently has discarded his schedule of twice-a-week news conferences.

In 1943 he set a new low of 59, averaging a little more than one a week.

Presidential news conferences used to be held almost without fail every Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and Friday morning at 10:30. The schedule was followed in peacetime even when Mr. Roosevelt was travelling. Reporters accompanied him on every trip.

Rarely, since Pearl Harbor, have White House newsmen been allowed to travel with the Chief Executive, although he has gone on such historically important journeys as those to Casablanca, Cairo and Teheran.

Compared with the 59 news conferences last year, Mr. Roosevelt held 96 in 1942; 91 in 1941; 96 in 1940 and 83 in 1933 when he spent ten months in the White House. The total since his inauguration March 4, 1933 is 929.

Since Nov. 9, two days before he left for the war councils at Cairo and Teheran, the President has met with press and radio reporters just three times. He was gone from the country for five weeks. He held one conference December 17, the day he got back to Washington, another December 21, and a third December 23.

After that, the Chief Executive contracted influenza and was away from his office another two weeks.

White House officials report he now has recovered almost completely. He returned to work in his office two days ago.

Frequent cancellations of White House news conferences is nothing out of the ordinary. Numerous presidents have called them off since Theodore Roosevelt began holding them on an infrequent basis. So Mr. Roosevelt is setting no precedent.

Tax Bill First

The Senate Finance committee is readying the $2,275,000,000 added revenues bill for final action and is prepared to put it to a vote despite President Roosevelt's demand for more monies than would be provided by the pending legislation.

Your Move, Suh!

Threats of Southern Democrats to form a third party may be nipped in the bud at the White House "social" being planned for Dixie governors sometime next week. Recently the Southerners have shown signs of removing their "solid" support from the regular Democratic forces. But a number of governors from Southern states are due in Washington to renew demands for railroad freight rate equality and it is reported they will be received at a White House party.

New Subsidy Program

The administration plans to launch a new subsidy program, despite expected protests from Congress.

Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson revealed to two legislators last night that he had signed a directive establishing a subsidy for grapefruit juice canners.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) and Rep. Green (D-Fla.) said they were told the War Food Administration (WFA) would announce the program today, and agency officials confirmed this expectation.

CIO Faces Charges

The CIO leadership reserved immediate comment on a Justice Department inquiry into charges its political action committee had violated criminal provisions of the Smith-Connally anti-strike law through a fund-raising campaign.

Rep. Smith (D-Va.), co-author of the anti-strike law enacted last year, made the charges, asserting the political action committee was seeking "to influence, if not control, the 1944 elections."

The Virginian asked the Justice Department to investigate and present "the whole matter to a federal grand jury forthwith," and Attorney General Biddle promptly directed Tom C. Clark, head of the criminal division, to look into the charges and "take such action as the facts require."

Press Conferences Off

President Roosevelt, largely because of extensive wartime travels and occasional illnesses, apparently has discarded his schedule of twice-a-week news conferences.

In 1943 he set a new low of 59, averaging a little more than one a week.

Presidential news conferences used to be held almost without fail every Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and Friday morning at 10:30. The schedule was followed in peacetime even when Mr. Roosevelt was travelling. Reporters accompanied him on every trip.

Rarely, since Pearl Harbor, have White House newsmen been allowed to travel with the Chief Executive, although he has gone on such historically important journeys as those to Casablanca, Cairo and Teheran.

Compared with the 59 news conferences last year, Mr. Roosevelt held 96 in 1942; 91 in 1941; 96 in 1940 and 83 in 1933 when he spent ten months in the White House. The total since his inauguration March 4, 1933 is 929.

Since Nov. 9, two days before he left for the war councils at Cairo and Teheran, the President has met with press and radio reporters just three times. He was gone from the country for five weeks. He held one conference December 17, the day he got back to Washington, another December 21, and a third December 23.

After that, the Chief Executive contracted influenza and was away from his office another two weeks.

White House officials report he now has recovered almost completely. He returned to work in his office two days ago.

Markets and Finance

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—AP—Wheat prices advanced after an early sell-off today, buying on the part of local traders being the major factor in the upturn. There were reports of further flour acceptances by government agencies and shipping sales of cash wheat out of this market were substantial.

The late strength in wheat, which sent prices above the preceding close, was reflected in a better under-tone for other grains. However, trading remained light. The modern miller said crop experts were doubtful if subsoil moisture in the southwest had been replenished to any extent following several months of subnormal precipitation.

At the close wheat was unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $1.71, oats were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, May 78 1/2-1/4, rye was 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, May $1.30-1/4, and barley was 1/4-1/2 higher, May $1.22-1/4.

GRAIN CLOSE

Wheat—May $1.71; July $1.69.
Oats—May $1.71; July $1.69.
Rye—May $1.30 1/2-1/4; July $1.28 1/2-1/4.
Barley—May $1.22 1/4; July $1.21.

FAIR DIRECTORS GET NEW IDEAS AT STATE MEET

Outlook for This Season
Brighter - - - Exposition
Here Sets Pattern

The 13 men who direct the Fayette County Fair today were back home from the annual meeting of the Ohio Fair Managers' Association in Columbus with a lot of concessions booked and some new ideas boiled down for incorporation into the program here next summer.

The seven farmers on the board—Walter Sollars, Harry Silcott, Ralph Nisley, Walter Finley, Sam Martin, Baldwin Rice and John Cannon—and six who live in Washington C. H.—T. Harold Craig, George L. Gossard, Frank E. Ellis, R. Burris Sharp, George A. Steen and Ray Brandenburg—have made their job of pulling the Fayette County exposition together for the one week event a year-round responsibility with full board meetings every month and many committee meetings thrown in between.

Last year, when so many of Ohio's Fairs were cancelled by their directors because of the fear that war restrictions might cut down attendance and attractions, the Fayette County board took a firm grip on the situation and, admittedly somewhat to their surprise, the results of their efforts and determination were labeled success in capital letters. This year, they learned at the association meeting, many of those Fairs cancelled last season are planning to reopen this year and that on the basis of success of those Fairs, such as the one here, which were carried on in the face of adversity, the Fair managers are looking forward to the coming months in the best "bigger and better than ever" tradition of show business.

As the Ohio Fair Managers' Association annual meeting ended, Auglaize County's Class C Fair at Wapakoneta was adjudged the best held in the state last year. The choice was made from a group of four outstanding exhibitions, each classified according to county population. The others were Mahoning County in Class A, Sandusky County in Class B and Geauga County in Class D. Fayette County was not entered in the competition.

Mrs. Don A. Detrick of Bellefontaine executive secretary of the state association, said the group's two-day convention was "the best yet" in its 19-year history and that 88 county and independent expositions had been approved for this season, 21 more than operated last year.

The meeting came to a close near midnight Thursday after the annual banquet in the Deshler-Wallick Hotel at which more than a thousand Fair directors sat down to a turkey dinner and remained for an entertainment put on by midway concessionaires.

Some of the highlights of the meeting from the viewpoint of the Fayette County Fair were many new ideas; approval of dates for the last week of July to make this the first major Fair in the state; the rounding out of the race program which included four days of harness horse racing built around four $1,000 stakes of the Tri-county (Fayette, Greene and Clinton) circuit and Ohio Colt Racing Association and signing up of a variety of features for the midway and agricultural and livestock expositions.

Members of the Fayette County board are getting more and more recognition in the state association although they have consistently shied away for candidacy for office. Ellis, the secretary and members of the speed committee with Sollars and Steen, the chairman, was chosen to act as one of the tellers to count the votes in the election of a district director for the Trotting Association. Joseph Neville took the seat from Dr. H. M. Farshall by a single vote.

PROBATE JUDGE OF

HILLSBORO, Jan. 14—(Sp.)—

Probate Judge Charlton Myers has resigned effective Feb. 1 and plans to enter into a law partnership with Walter Moore, of Marion.

Governor Bricker will name Myers' successor within a short time. The position pays $3,235 yearly. Judge Myers has served for seven years.

COLD WEATHER RETARDS HUSKING IN COUNTY

The large amount of cold weather so far this winter has retarded work of husking corn, and as a result there is a large portion of the shock corn that remains to be husked.

Dry weather part of the time has also interfered with the work being carried forward promptly.

Of all the new people hired in west coast aircraft factories in a month, less than 6 per cent have had any previous airplane building experience.

VICTORY SING PLANS ARE SET FOR SUNDAY

Monologue, Trumpet Solo and Talk by Marine Veteran
Special Numbers

Three special numbers scheduled for the Victory sing Sunday at 2:30 P.M. in Washington High School auditorium include a monologue, a trumpet solo and a brief talk by a returned Marine air corps man.

The monologue will be given by Mrs. Dwight Coffman, speech pupil of Mrs. O. D. Farquhar. David Mossberger, junior high student at Washington High School, will play a trumpet solo. Staff Sergeant Max E. Lawrence, staff returned from 12 months' duty in the South Pacific, will tell some of his experiences to the audience.

The song sheets, used at each sing, are mimeographed by the vocational department of the high school, directed by Miss Helen E. King.

The Sunday sing will be sponsored by the Rotary Club. In December, the Cecilian Club sponsored sing, was attended by 500. Songs are directed by Paul Fitzwater, who will be assisted by Miss Mary Elizabeth Brownning. Sunday, Mrs. Ralph Gage is at the organ and piano music is played by Mrs. Fitzwater.

FEW DAYS LEFT FOR DOG TAGS

January 20 Is Deadline Before
Penalty

As the deadline—January 20—for obtaining dog tags without penalty, draws nearer, it is evident that hundreds of dog owners, unless they act immediately will be caught by the penalty and must pay $1 additional to the regular tax.

Something over 1200 licenses have been issued at the office of County Auditor Ulric T. Acton, leaving approximately the same number to be issued by Thursday evening if no penalty is to be paid.

The law regulating the penalty is more stringent than formerly and the additional fee must be paid, it is pointed out.

Scores of tags were sold by the deputies who went to various places in the county and sold tags. This aided a large number of persons who could not come in after their dog licenses.

SEMESTER ENDS FRIDAY FOR 16 COUNTY SCHOOLS

Students in Fayette County schools finished the first semester of the 1943-44 school year Friday, with its inevitable semester exams and headaches.

Starting out with a clean slate Monday, the 16 schools head into the last lap of the school year as the second semester begins.

FIRST SPRING LAMBS

BEGIN TO ARRIVE

First spring lambs are beginning to appear, although it will be several weeks before lambs begin to arrive in large numbers.

The lamb population during the coming spring is expected to be down considerably, due to heavy liquidation of sheep in recent months.

API WORKERS GET VITAMINS THRICE DAILY

New Plan Is Designed To Boost Morale and Health

API workers are today getting an extra supply of pep and energy via pleasant tasting vitamin tablets distributed three times daily to each employee free of charge.

Each capsule contains units of vitamins A, B-1, B-2, P-P, C and D, plus calcium, phosphorus and iron. The plan, designed to boost the morale and health of the workers, is explained in detail in the following letter, signed by Alfred Jackson, president of the company.

"Management has been studying for some time a program of distribution of Vitamin-Mineral Tablets to all employees and you will be happy to learn that you will be able to obtain, without cost to yourself, the benefits of a daily vitamin-mineral program. "It has become extremely difficult, because of food shortages and rationing, to obtain the proper quantities of vitamins and minerals in our daily diets. Vitamins and minerals are highly necessary foods—not medicines. Like other foods, we need them every day, but Government studies have shown that 3 out of 4 of us do not get enough.

"The product which, after careful study, has been selected for this program is Vimmis. It contains all the vitamins necessary to good health and all the minerals commonly lacking in our diets. Vimmis are now used by millions of people, which testifies to the popularity of this form of vitamin.

"The Vimmis tablets will be brought to you every day. The Company is purchasing and distributing these tablets at considerable expense, so please do not accept them unless you intend to take them. They may be chewed or swallowed. A cup of water will be provided for you to eat them then and there.

"These tablets are absolutely free to you. The attached circular tells all about them. This Aeronautical Products, Inc., health program offers a splendid opportunity for you to make sure you get sufficient vitamins and minerals."

Hundreds of war plants throughout the country are using the vitamin-mineral supplement program to aid those on the home front to help our soldiers on the fighting fronts.

ROTARY WILL HEAR MISSIONARY SPEAK

One of Five at Presbyterian
Convocation

Rotary speaker Tuesday will be Rev. James E. Boren, one of the five missionary speakers coming here to the First Presbyterian Church Tuesday for a convocation meeting.

Rev. Boren, of Bangkok, Thailand, was active in the new student hostel, home for boarding students of Bangkok Christian college and universities in 1939. He has helped boys with studies, taught English, planned dramatic and musical programs with students and used his college athletic experience to coach basketball and football.

Now, Rev. Boren serves under the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. He has acted as president of the Indiana Youth Council of Christian Education. A native of Indiana, he graduated from the College of Wooster and the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Chicago.

Rev. Boren is also scheduled to speak at Washington High School Tuesday morning.

WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE MEETS FRIDAY

Meeting Set at 7:30 P. M.
In D. P. & L. Assembly
Room

Final instructions will be given to the 350 workers of the Fayette County War Finance Committee when they meet in the Dayton Power and Light assembly room Friday at 7:30 P. M. All materials—order pads, identification tags, window stickers and folders—will be distributed to co-chairmen to be distributed in turn to each worker.

F. E. Hill, chairman of the War Finance committee, in discussing the county's $906,000 quota, said: "This war is a long way from being won—there's still a lot of hard fighting ahead of us. The war is becoming increasingly expensive for it costs more to attack than to defend. The threat of inflation is increasing and billions of dollars must be siphoned into war bonds."

Amplifying, Hill said that more than two years have elapsed since Pearl Harbor, that despite optimistic forecasts, the hard cold fact remains that Germany has more divisions in the field today than at the beginning of the war.

The opening of every new front calls for the spending of additional billions of dollars for landing craft, tanks, planes, guns, food, clothing and all the thousands of items used by a modern army, Hill explained.

It is estimated the American people will have more than $40,000,000,000 in their pockets (after taxes) than the value of goods available, he said.

NEW TRIAL DENIED DONALD E. CARSON

Plea for a new trial for Charles Finch, 46, alias Donald Eugene Carson, formerly of Williamsport, has been denied in the Fayette County Circuit Court in Indiana.

Finch has been sentenced to die in the electric chair in Indiana state prison, April 10, for the 1938 murder of Joseph Schoenfeld, Indiana farmer.

Friends are now asking that the governor of Indiana commute the sentence to life imprisonment.

THURSDAY NIGHT'S LOW WAS 12 DEGREES

NO PAYMENT FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

Payments in State Drop To Record Low

Not a single dollar was paid out by the United States Employment Service office in Washington C. H. during the month of December, it was announced Friday.

It is the first month since unemployment compensation was established that all labor has been absorbed and no claims have been presented for unemployment compensation.

Payments for the entire state totaled $81,958, Ward C. Miller, manager, said he had been informed by Hugh S. Jenkins, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation at Columbus. This represented a 58 percent increase over November when $51,920 was paid.

Despite the increase, payments in December were comparatively insignificant. In the "normal" year of 1941, benefit payments during the month of December amounted to $1,122,966.

Unemployment compensation payments for the Washington Court House area totaled $2,114.15 for the entire year of 1943.
